

INSTRUCTIONS
1.	Ensure printing without any Page Scaling on the print dialog box (ctrl+p). 100% scale is crucial to proper measurement.
2.	Measure the below bar to verify print scale is correct. Include the vertical bars' width into the measurement.
3.	To verify the shin pad's overall shape , cut the contour on the next page and place the paper's front side on your left leg. The placement should be where you would wear your shin pad. The dotted lines indicate where the curvature lines are taken from.
4.	Next, analyse fit with the curvature lines. Cut the area below the curves (where your shin will be). Use the dotted line on the overall shape to position the curvature jig.
5.	Excessive gaps on the edges or in the middle indicate no fit with the trial area on your leg. Either a) move the curvature up/down or rotate slightly left/right on your leg until no excessive gaps are found. This area shows where this shin pad model should be comfortable. Re-confirm the positioning with the overall shape jig, b) try another model within our range, repeating the whole process.
6.	Always try to wear shin pads on the lower part of your shin. Bigger shin pads cover a larger area of protection. The fit depends on how you place your shin pad on your leg. If in doubt, do not hesitate to contact Batoco on fearless@batoco.co or check our Instagram and website for a tutorial video showing how to use the model form.
